Canadian Committee for the IUCN (CCIUCN)

The objective of the CCIUCN is to provide a focus for Canadian member organizations to support the IUCN by:

- developing the fullest possible communication and co-ordination among Canadian members of IUCN, and communication between IUCN and Canada and vice-versa;
- mobilizing the scientific and professional skills, practical experience and data of the Canadian official and voluntary bodies necessary to support the above;
- stimulating and fostering conservation and research leading to that end;
- serving as a clearing-house for dissemination of information from IUCN; publishing and disseminating appropriate information to help establish Canadian views in relation to matters raised by IUCN; this is without prejudice to the right of individual organizations to express an independent view, or of Canadian government agencies to give the official scientific and professional conservationist view;
- assisting national, and international, conservation activities.
